

The Tree

author and illustrator Katarzyna Bajerowicz

• ages 2-10 • activity book • 200 x 280 mm • 30 pages • hard cover • publication date: October 2016

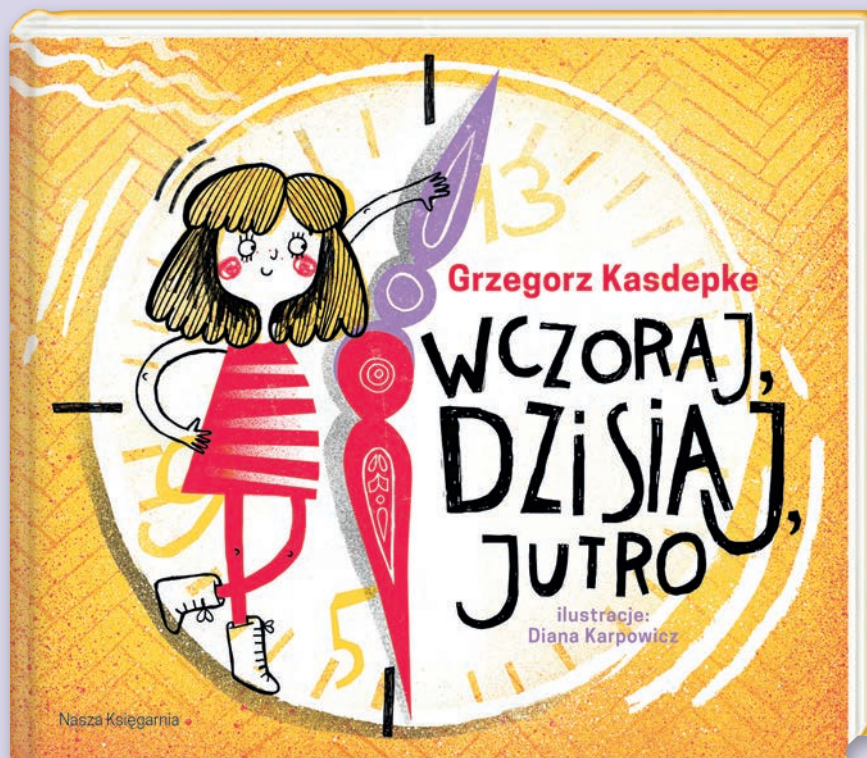

The Tree is an incredible book. You can browse it page by page, and once you tear out the pages, you can create an extra-large puzzle. A wonderful oak tree will grow in front of your eyes. On it, next to it, and even underneath it, you will find countless species of animals: birds, insects and mammals...

On the reverse sides of each page that makes up the puzzle, you will find lots of interesting facts about nature and ideas for exciting outdoor games!

In this visually beautiful book Katarzyna Bajerowicz mixes humour with plenty of information about nature, which she passes on in the best way possible – through great fun!

Can you see a long-eared owl in the picture? It looks like the owl is looking carefully at a stag beetle. Can you find a hornets' nest? Once you put the entire picture together, the task won't turn out to be all that easy. There will be many more tasks like this one, so good fun is guaranteed.

Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow

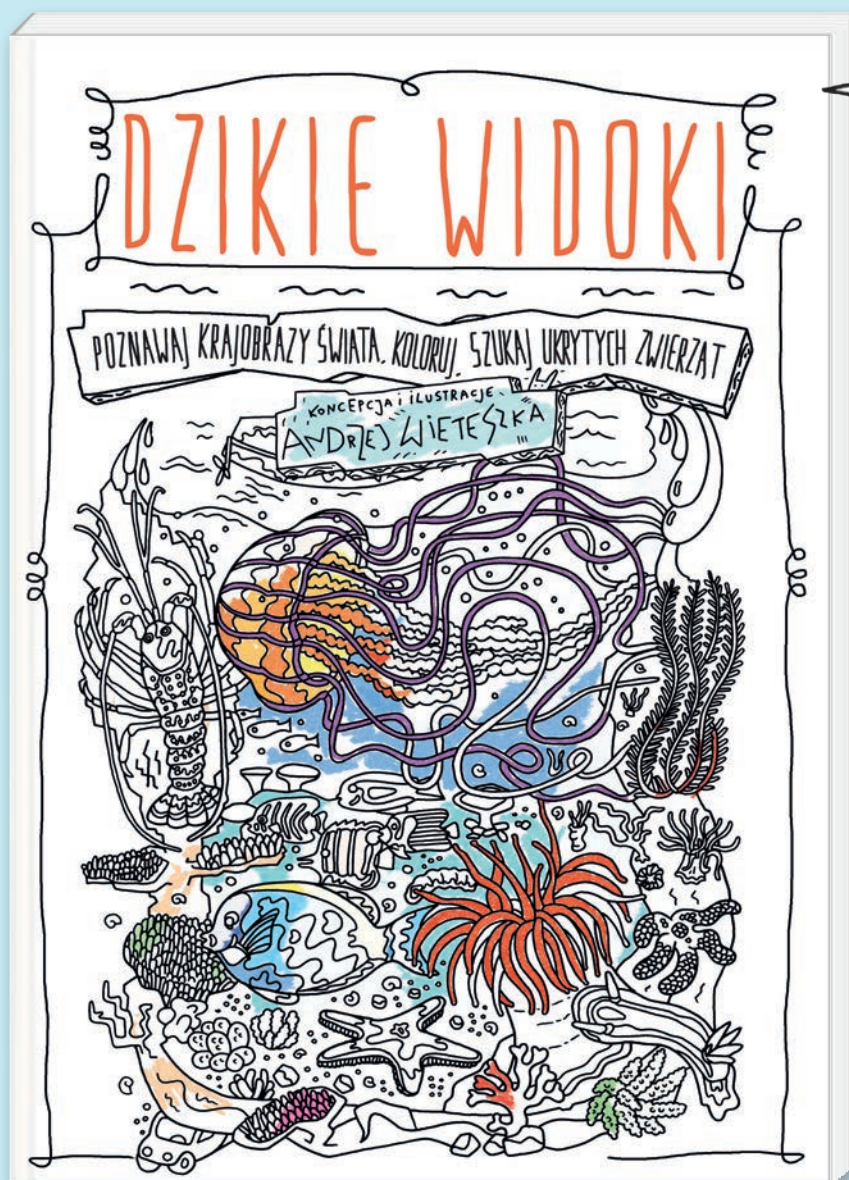

author Grzegorz Kasdepke
illustrator Diana Karpowicz

• ages 6-10 • fiction • 270 x 230 mm
• 48 pages • hard cover • 2016

Why is Tomorrow always late? And why is it always grey and hunched over? Must Yesterday disappear into thin air? Must Today always make such a big mess? And who is going to clean it up? Yesterday, Today, or maybe Tomorrow? It's difficult to decide, especially when you don't know what they all look like and where to find them...

Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow is an extremely funny and clever story about a little girl who doesn't like cleaning but has a great imagination. Our most popular contemporary children's author tells us about the mystery of time and that sending a smile to your Today is worth it.

Wild Landscapes

author and illustrator Andrzej Wieteszk

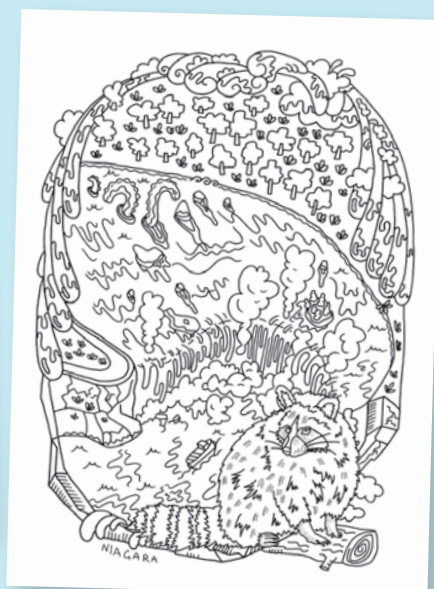

- ages 6-100 • colouring book
- 210 x 297 mm • 64 pages
- soft cover • 2016

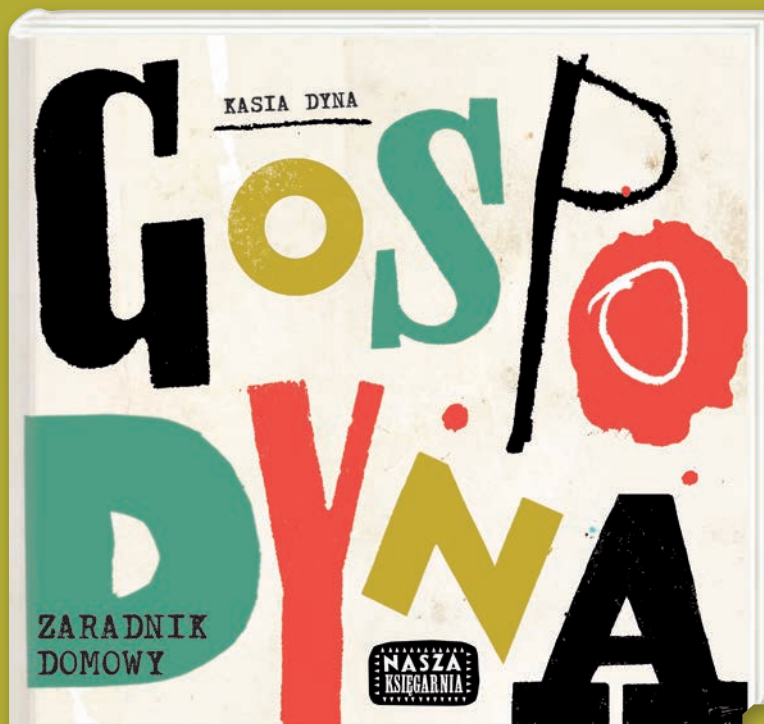

Wild Landscapes. Learn about the landscapes of the world, colour them in and look for hidden animals!

A fascinating adventure among fjords, cliffs, rainforests, and even in outer space.

Colour in thirty landscapes from this world and one from another dimension. Find animals in their natural habitats (including one cosmic and one fictional location). You will meet a lynx in the Białowieża Forest, a yak in the Himalayas, a fennec in the Sahara, a rattle snake in Colorado's Grand Canyon, and a gannet in the Galapagos... There will be some animals you had no idea existed, so there are some hints on the reverse side of the illustrations. With the pull-out pages in Wild Landscapes, you can share the fun with your friends and family!

On the opposite of each page you can find the information what animals can be found on the picture and which element doesn't match.

Lady of the House. A Domestic Handbook

author and illustrator Kasia Dyna

- ages 18+ • non-fiction • 220 x 200 mm
- 160 pages • hard cover
- publication date: October 2016

Sometimes you don't really feel like doing things around the house, but they need to be done. Sometimes you do feel like it, but you just don't know how. This Domestic Handbook will come in handy for those of you who are all fingers and thumbs, and for those of you who have your heads screwed firmly on. The book is a treasure trove of simple, light-hearted and amusing tips on how to keep everything within your four walls in order. Even though the fashion for being the perfect housewife is long gone, both ladies and gentlemen of the house will make good use of this collection of resources from grandmas, mums, aunts, uncles, and other relatives and friends.

The book also contains old-fashioned trivia and tips. For example, you will find out about the beneficial properties of sauerkraut on the cleanliness of your carpets. There are also recipes for genuine home-made produce of all types and uses. All this is presented with first-rate graphic design and witty collages and illustrations.

Lady of the House will, without being grandiose, easily – and wittily – make you change your mind about sometimes playing house.
