Foodology

Olga Woldańska-Płocińska

Why do we eat? How did man subdue plants? With what were the tables set at the ancient feasts? Were some spices more expensive than gold? Does food heal? How is chocolate made? What can you learn from the labels?

The book in an interesting way, both in the textual and illustrative layers, tells about food in historical, cultural, environmental and health contexts.

From... to What and how grows in nature

Liliana Fabisińska

Children ask a lot of questions: what? how? why?

The "From ... to" series gives the answers.

Where do frogs come from? How is it that a caterpillar changes into a butterfly? Why does a small seed grow into a beautiful flower?

We show and explain what and how grows in the natural world. Do not hesitate to ask!

butterfly * snail * clownfish * seahorse * frog * crocodile * stork * hen * kangaroo * dolphin * sunflower * potato * toadstool

Illustrations full of details, on which children will find fascinating elements. Easily written, accessible text. Durable cardboard pages.

A boardbook that can also be published in a standard binding.

Kicek & Kicka Hide and seek

Anna Sójka

Format 310 x 220 mm, 30 pp,
boardbook

First book in a series.

This book prepares children to learn to read.

Large format, cardboard pages and activity games that support speech development and concentration.

Some words in the story have been replaced with pictures, so that even toddlers who do not yet know how to read can take part in the reading. After the picture recognition stage, it will be time to read the words broken down into syllables.

Kicek and Kicka are siblings of rabbits from Rabbit's Meadow. In this book, they play hide and seek, take part in a competition, and protect themselves from the storm. At the same time, they learn the principles of co-operation and safety. And also how to express emotions.

Sabine's Piggies

Joanna Krzyżanek

Another volume of the popular series, including, among others: addition and subtraction, multiplication and division, sets, geometric shapes, measuring, recording dates as well as hours, minutes and seconds.

The LEARNING OF MATHEMATICS method used in the book combines school rules with fun. And it works!

format: 220x200

Tells About series

- Which plants use others to spread their seeds?
- What do clovers have in common with bacteria?
- Which plant makes wheat grow better?
- How do birds use herbs to get rid of parasites?
- What are poppy seed flakes used for?

This practical book shows plants' doubles, i.e. species that look very similar to the described plants, so that we would not make a mistake when recognizing them.

What's Inside? / What's Hidden Here?

Format 250 x 220 mm, 48 pp, hardback

On one side of a page there is a colourful drawing and an intriguing question and on the other side there is a black drawing of what is under the surface (for example a bug in an apple).

Children can use a flashlight to put under a page or any source of light. Even in daylight the image shows through the page as the paper is not that thick.
