AGGIE AND THE GHOST

By Matthew Forsythe

Imprint: Paula Wiseman Books

From Matthew Forsythe, the creator of the acclaimed and beloved Pokko and the Drum, comes a surprising and pleasing picture book about rules and sharing—and an epic game of tic-tac-toe.

Aggie is very excited to live on her own—until she finds out her new house is haunted. But no fear, the situation is nothing that can't be fixed with a carefully considered list of rules: No haunting after dark. No stealing socks. No eating all the food.

But the ghost doesn't like playing by the rules, and it challenges Aggie to an epic game of tic-tac-toe. The winner gets the house.

THE DARK IS FOR

By Jane Kohuth

Illustrated by Cindy Derby

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

Magic comes to life when night arrives in this lyrical and gorgeously illustrated picture book about embracing the beauty of darkness.

The dark is for flying.

The dark is for shining.

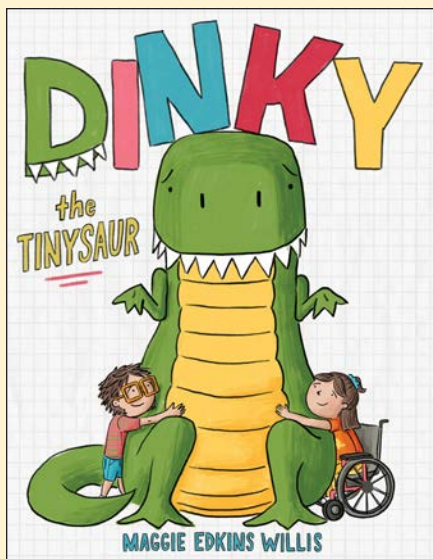

The dark is for dreaming. . . .

Though darkness can be scary, beauty can be found in the stillness of the shadows. This stunning book filled with poetic words and gorgeous art celebrates the darkness. From the creatures dancing in the blackness of the deep sea to those that awake when night falls in the forest, there's so much magic to discover!

Jane Kohuth's musical text and Caldecott Honor recipient Cindy Derby's stunning illustrations take us on an unforgettable journey to all the spectacular wonders that can only be found in the darkest of places.

DINKY THE TINYSAUR

By Maggie Edkins Willis
Imprint: Beach Lane Books

An oversized dinosaur named Dinky helps two siblings discover that a person's heart matters more than their appearance in this delightful picture book perfect for fans of Clifford the Big Red Dog and Dragons Love Tacos.

Twin siblings have their heart set on adopting a dinosaur. But not just any dinosaur—they want a pocket-sized tinysaur! They find the perfect one and name her Dinky.

Life with Dinky is lots of fun . . . until one day when the twins start to notice that Dinky is growing.

When Dinky's new size causes trouble at their birthday party, the twins get angry, and Dinky runs away. Except it turns out that life without Dinky is no fun at all. Could it be that the real reason they love Dinky has nothing to do with her size? Now it's up to the twins to find Dinky and bring her back home.

THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

By Candice Bradley
Imprint: Simon & Schuster
Books for Young Readers

In this adaptation of Clement C. Moore's beloved Christmas poem, a young Black girl wakes up on Christmas Eve to find Santa placing gifts for her family underneath the tree, and to her delight, Santa looks just like her.

*I drew a bit closer,
my eyes not believing
this wondrous,
magical Christmas Eve being.
He encompassed us all, the man by the tree.
Who'd imagine that Santa could look just like me.*

Since it was published more than two hundred years ago, Clement C. Moore's poem has enchanted readers young and old with the story of jolly old St. Nicholas and the child who discovers him on Christmas Eve.

In this reimagining of the holiday classic, a young Black girl patiently waits for Christmas morning with her family, when, to her surprise, she chances upon Santa with his red suit, hot-cocoa-colored cheeks, and snow white beard.

THE FAMILY TREE

By Liz Garton Scanlon and Audrey Vernick
Illustrated by Fiona Lee
Imprint: Beach Lane Books

A whimsical meditation on what makes a home, what makes a family, and how a magical tree can hold everything together

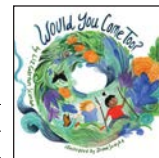

Nothing ever really happens at Penny's house. It's all hurry in and hurry out again. But then something happens, something that gets everyone's attention. It starts out small. A seed! Then it grows until it's simply too big to ignore. A tree!

Every day the tree gets a little taller, a little leafier, and a lot more special. And as they care for the tree, Penny's family starts to hurry out less and stay in more. Could something else be shifting in Penny's house, something much more than a tree?

WHEN SCIENCE STOOD STILL

By Shruthi Rao

Illustrated by Srinidhi Srinivasan

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

Discover the remarkable story about the man who discovered the science of black holes and persisted in his theories against the disbelief of the scientific community—perfect for fans of Counting the Stars and What Miss Mitchell Saw.

When scientists get things right, science leaps forward. When they get things wrong, they learn from their mistakes, and science still marches forward. But sometimes, even when scientists get it right, nobody pays attention. Then, for a while, science stands still.

Subrahmanyan Chandrasekhar was a brilliant scientist with eyes fixed toward the stars. As a young man, he developed the theory that would eventually lead to the discovery of black holes. But when he presented his findings to the world's leading scientists, they scoffed at his ideas. Chandra knew he was right. But would anyone listen?

Learn the true story of a relentless scientist and a cosmic discovery that had to wait for science to change its mind.

MARY MORLAND IN THE TIME OF DINOSAUR DISCOVERY

By Jane Kurtz
Illustrated by Giselle Potter
Imprint: Beach Lane Books

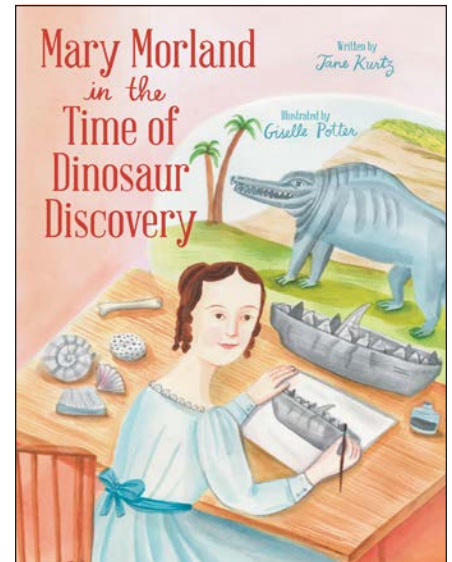

Before STEM fields were available to women, paleontologist Mary Morland dedicated her life to pursuing her passion. Find out how Mary collected, studied, and drew fossils in this fascinating picture book biography.

While other little girls were sipping tea perched on their chairs, Mary Morland was outside exploring. After her mother died, her father sent her to live with a professor who taught Mary how to examine plants, animals, rocks, and fossils. She soaked up all the knowledge she could and captured her discoveries in her journals.

Mary continued studying and drawing fossils into adulthood, eventually marrying William Buckland, England's best fossilist, after bonding over their love of paleontology. Though William is usually credited for their accomplishments, this story shines a spotlight on Mary, celebrating her endless, enthusiastic pursuit of prehistoric knowledge.

THE MANY MISFORTUNES OF EUGENIA WANG

By Stan Yan

Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

Turning Red meets Goosebumps in this hilarious and heartfelt debut graphic novel about a girl who begins receiving visions of impending doom on her thirteenth birthday.

Twelve-year-old Eugenia Wang has never celebrated her birthday on her actual birthday, 4/4, because of Mom's belief in the Chinese superstition that 4 is an unlucky number. What's worse, Mom won't even let her go to a summer comic art camp because she thinks art is a waste of time. But this year, Eugenia is determined to defy her mom, even if that means applying for the camp, having her birthday on her actual birthday, and inviting her crush Enrique while she's at it too!

But then Eugenia gets hit in the head with a sneaker during PE, and she starts getting unnerving visions of impending doom and the destruction of her house and everyone she cares about on her upcoming birthday. Maybe she's just anxious about turning thirteen, but as the visions get worse, it becomes apparent that an unseen force is sending Eugenia messages through her comic artwork. If her artwork is cursed after all, she may have to do the unthinkable: admit Mom was right.

A BITE OF PEPPER

By Balazs Lorinczi

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

A skilled skateboarding vampire falls for a struggling human artist as they combine their talents to create a successful skating brand in this lightly paranormal, coming-of-age YA graphic novel romance for fans of the graphic novels Squad and The Girl from the Sea.

Pepper Mint might be a born vampire, but she's pretty much your average teenager—she loves skateboarding and her dog, Shroom, and she is the polar opposite of her business-minded but annoying brother, Jeb. What she doesn't love is her mother's continuous efforts to find her and Jeb a human-born vampire bride so that they can become fully immortal.

One night, at the glamorous Vampire Ball, Pepper meets Ana: a charming art student, part-time waitress, and—oh yeah—definitely human. Ana's presence changes everything, as the two girls' instant chemistry seems to provide the perfect opportunity for Pepper to finally commit to becoming the immortal creature of the night her mother desperately wants her to be.

Will Pepper's relationship (with a human) and her promising new skateboard business be able to withstand the pressure from her family as the inevitability of immortality looms closer and closer?

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

A genius humanoid escapes the university lab where she was made and gets a job at a local coffee shop in this quirky misfit, young adult graphic novel perfect for fans of the Giant Days series and Heartstopper.

Grown in a secret lab at the local university, Ruby was created to solve science's greatest problems. But she suspects she can't fulfill her function while trapped inside, so she breaks out.

Now living among humans, Ruby attempts to lie low and fit in as a barista at the university coffeehouse, Inkcup. Working there gives her plenty of opportunity to figure out what problems people need solving. And as far as she can tell, most humans' biggest problem is struggling to find happiness. And what makes them happy? Love! So Ruby uses her superpowered brain to play cupid.

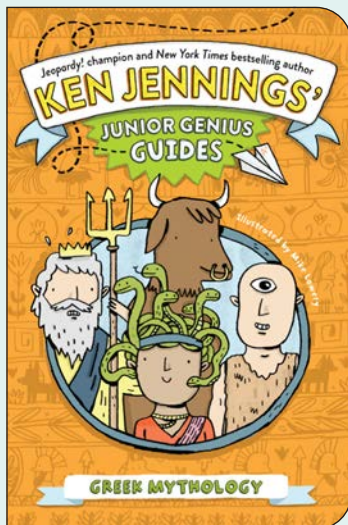

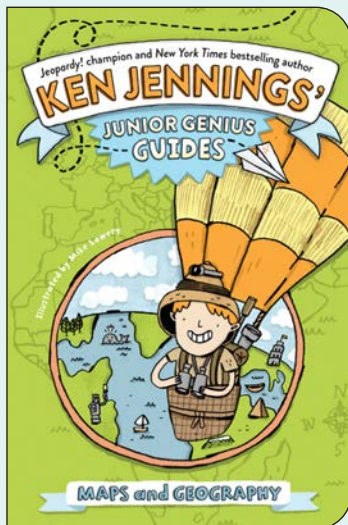

As Ruby sets to work pairing up the staff and regulars at Inkcup, she feels more and more human herself: she's got a community now, maybe even a crush. But the lab believes she's dangerous, and it wants her back. When pursuing her own happiness leads Ruby straight into a trap, she'll need her new motley crew of coffeehouse friends to save her from the scientists who only want to use her.

In this laugh-out-loud companion to The Great Pet Heist, Butterbean and her friends rescue a group of street puppies and try to find them new homes—with hilarious results.

Butterbean is in a funk. After watching a documentary of famous dogs in history, she wants to be a real dog. Real dogs have jobs. Real dogs are heroes. But Butterbean? Butterbean is nothing but a house pet. Never mind that she and her friends are superspies, ghost hunters, and part of an International Crime Syndicate. There's nothing to spy on, no more ghosts to hunt.

A chance to be a real dog comes when Butterbean rescues a puppy cornered by the nefarious Animal Control Man. But she may have gotten more than she bargained for when that one puppy turns out to be a whole pack. Now it's up to Butterbean and the gang to find these puppies new homes before it's too late—or before their owner, Mrs. Food, finds out that they've been hiding their new furry friends in the apartment!

THE GLADE

By Naseem Jamnia
Imprint: Aladdin

Ellen Oh's Spirit Hunters meets Katherine Arden's Small Spaces in this middle-grade supernatural mystery following a girl whose discovery of a magical clearing near her summer camp ends up putting her best friend in danger.

Pina's first trip to summer camp is a chance to escape her overbearing parents and finally go on an adventure with her best friend, Jo. But Camp Clear Skies hides a secret: a clearing in the deep woods the older kids call "the Glade." After falling asleep in the Glade, Pina and Jo are able to enter each other's dreams, transform into superheroes and knights in shining armor, and fight their nightmares in epic adventures.

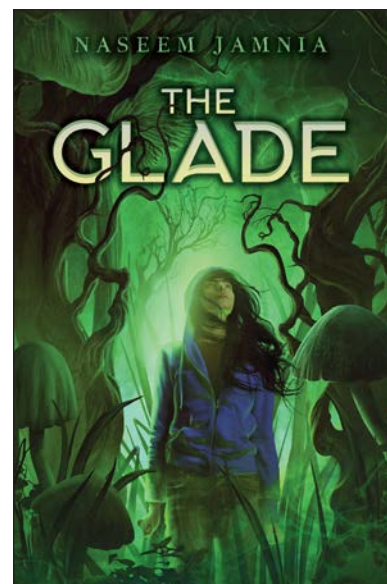

At first, the friends think they've discovered a secret more exciting than any video game—until Pina's nightmares start leaking out into waking life. Worse, something seems to have followed them back from those dreams, and whatever it is, it's taking over Jo. Jo has always been the superhero in their friendship, but Pina can't just abandon them to their fate.

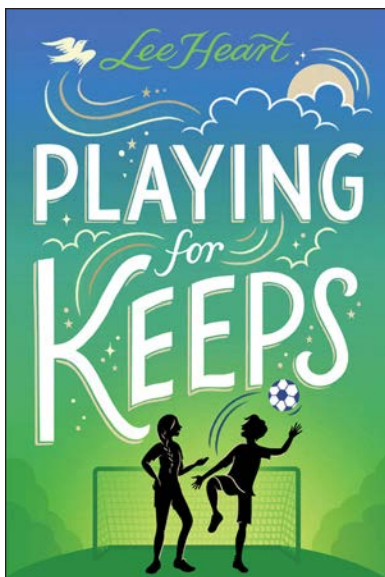

To save her friend, Pina journeys deeper into the Glade than she ever has before, facing the worst of her own fears and Jo's. There, she must confront the consciousness trying to steal her friend's body and learn what happened twenty years ago that shut down Camp Clear Skies and changed the Glade forever.

TEAM AWKWARD #2: LEAH VS. ART

By Joy McCullough and Veeda Bybee
Imprint: Aladdin

Leah's ambitious extracurricular plans cause trouble in the next book in the Team Awkward middle-grade series that's the Baby-Sitters Club meets Dork Diaries.

How organized, driven Leah was born into her family, she'll never know. They're as different as can be. For example, while she's trying to finish unpacking boxes from their move and get to bed at a decent time, her parents are listening to indie rock records and eating ice cream sundaes. Sometimes it feels like she's the only responsible one in the house!

So when her parents sign her up for art club—to "loosen her up" and "get her creative juices flowing"—Leah decides to ditch in favor of Quiz Bowl, which meets at the same time. But as she secretly attends Quiz Bowl and lies to her parents, her competitive spirit begins to take over, threatening her scheme and her friendships.

RUNNING BACK TO YOU

By Sarah Henning

Imprint: Aladdin

Never Been Kissed* meets Tall Girl in this tween novel about a girl trying to get her first kiss to save face in front of her classmates.

Millie hates liars. Ever since her mom lied to the family about the six-month affair she was having, ninth grader Millie Ashford has pledged to always tell the truth, even when it hurts. But when her classmate Logan asks her—in the middle of study hall with everyone listening—whether she’s kissed anyone, she panics. She panics and lies.

Afterward, Millie is sent into a spiral. She’s broken her most important rule, and it was painfully clear she was fibbing. Total social nightmare. So now Millie needs to make things right (and save face) by changing her kissing status ASAP to retroactively negate the lie. But as Millie tries to get her first kiss, Logan seems to be there at every turn. Is he trying to sabotage her? Or is there something more to his interest in her first-kiss status?

SCHOOLED

By Jamie Sumner

Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

A bighearted, compulsively readable novel from acclaimed author Jamie Sumner about new schools, unexpected friendships, and overcoming a devastating loss

As part of the brand-new experimental Copernican School, Lenny and four other students are starting sixth grade on a university campus, where they’ll be taught by the most brilliant professors and given every resource imaginable. This new school is pretty weird, though. Instead of hunkering down behind a desk to study math, science, and history, Lenny finds himself meditating, auditing university classes, and spying on the campus population in the name of anthropology.

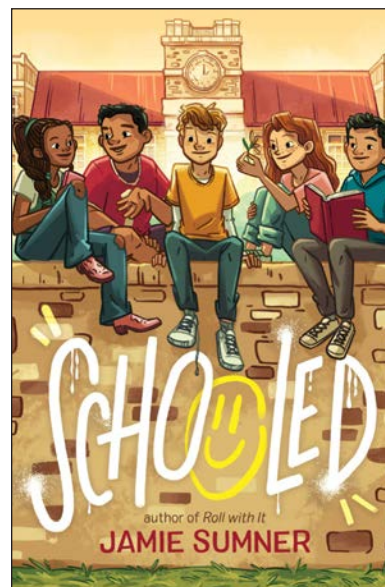

But Lenny just lost his mom, and his Latin professor dad is better with dead languages than actual human beings. Lenny doesn’t want to be part of some learning experiment. He just wants to be left alone. Yet grief grows in solitude. If Lenny is going to make it as a middle schooler on a college campus, he’s going to need help. Is a group of misfit sixth graders and one particularly quirky professor of fairytales enough to pull him out of his sadness and back into the world?

BLIGHT HARBOR: PENNIES

By Lora Senf

Illustrated by Alfredo Cáceres

Imprint: Atheneum Books for Young Readers

One hundred years prior to the events of The Clackity, four best friends are drawn into a deadly scheme when they set out to investigate the strange disappearances taking place in the eerie town of Blight Harbor.

It's June 1921 and best friends Mae, Lark, Brigid, and Claret have plans for the perfect summer. Between riding their bikes to the enchanted lake and decorating their fort for its resident ghost, the girls are a busy bunch. But when they discover a door in the forest floor that leads into an alternate world with purple skies and fearsome creatures, everything takes a turn for the worse. Someone else has already been through that door, and it's triggered something incredibly dangerous. Maybe deadly.

Back in Blight Harbor, strange disappearances keep taking place. The most worrisome being that of Brigid's cousin, who has been spending an awful lot of time with the unusual and untrustworthy John Jeffrey Pope. As the girls uncover the eerie world that lives right beneath their feet, will they find their missing friend, or will the most treacherous man in Blight Harbor get to them first?

EVIL VILLAINS INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE #2: KEEPER CHANCE AND THE DUBIOUS DOPPELGÄNGER

By Alex Evanovich

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

For graduates of the Percy Jackson & the Olympians series and fans of Alex Rider comes the second book in this adventure-filled series about good and evil, growing up, and making your mark on the world.

In the sequel to Keeper Chance and the Conundrum of Chaos, a villain has gotten himself into a heap of trouble. What did he steal? Why did he steal it? And most important, where is he? It's the type of problem that requires a villainous hero to save the day, and the head of E.V.I.L.'s chapter 626 thinks Keeper Chance is the boy for the job. Time is of the essence, but people who can loop time, stop time, and are always on time are going to be tough to beat. And what's the deal with the dubious doppelgänger?

In the world of villainy, or any other world for that matter, things are not always what they seem. Keeper better brace himself as secrets are gradually revealed and the world he thought he knew begins to unravel. On the plus side, when one is an E.V.I.L. villain and something unravels, it's a wonderful opportunity to knit yourself a flashy scarf. Mischief and mayhem guaranteed along the way.

LOST ON DOLL ISLAND

By Cassandra Ramos-Gomez

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

Rick Riordan meets R.L. Stine in this fast-paced horror-adventure, about a Mexican American boy who starts being haunted by the voice of a mysterious doll.

Once you visit the Island of the Dolls, there's no going home. . . .

Diego feels trapped. He's trapped in an arm cast, he's trapped with his tía and tío for a week in Mexico City, and he's trapped with the sickening fear that he's the one who really caused his parents' divorce. Even more so, Diego feels trapped in his own secret. Because ever since he got to Mexico City, he's started having these strange dreams . . . of a doll . . . calling his name.

And that's when Diego learns of La Isla de las Muñecas, an island full of powerful magic that can make children's wishes come true. If Diego can harness the magic there, maybe he could fix everything that has gone wrong in his life. Maybe he doesn't have to move to Mexico City, and his parents don't have to separate, and he could go back to the way things were.

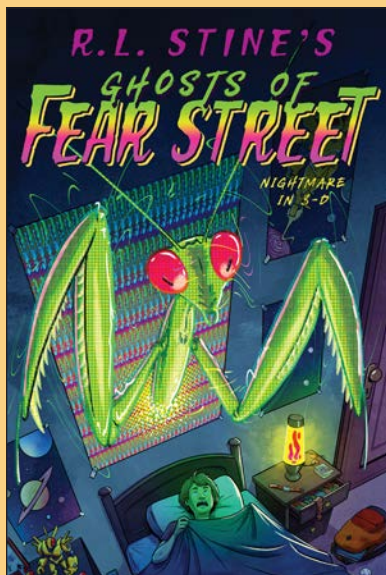

Joined by his neighbor Itzel and his classmate Jandro, he takes a boat to the legendary island where nothing is as it seems, and dolls seem to appear and reappear in the blink of an eye. Suddenly Diego is trapped in an entirely new way, and as the night goes on, he's not sure he can ever escape.

GHOSTS OF FEAR STREET #3: ATTACK OF THE AQUA APES #4: NIGHTMARE IN 3-D

By R.L. Stine
Imprint: Aladdin

All the thrills and chills of the bestselling Fear Street series, for a younger audience

Do you believe in ghosts? Don't say no until you take a walk down Fear Street: past the woods—where no birds sing; past the lake—where something lurks beneath the water; past the cemetery—where everyone is dying to meet you.

In Attack of the Aqua Apes, Scott and Glen decide to use water from Fear Street Lake to grow their Aqua Ape, but they had no idea that the tiny creature would keep growing . . . and growing . . . and growing. And its teeth keep getting sharper and sharper. Will Scott and Glen be able to contain their destructive new pet before it's too late?

In Nightmare in 3-D, take a peek in Sal's Five and Ten. He sells great stuff. Wes Parker bought a 3-D poster there. He spent hours trying to see the hidden picture. Then he wished he hadn't. Because the thing inside the poster saw Wes, too. Now it wants out . . . and it wants Wes.

This series flew off shelves when it was first published, with each of the 27 books that Simon & Schuster published selling over 100,000 copies. Perfect for fans of Goosebumps who aren't quite ready for Fear Street, these books have all the satisfying scares without getting too graphic.

R.L. STINE invented the teen horror genre with Fear Street, the bestselling teen horror series of all time. He also changed the face of children's publishing with the mega-successful Goosebumps series, which went on to become a worldwide multimedia phenomenon. Guinness World Records cites Stine as the most prolific author of children's horror fiction novels. He lives in New York City with his wife, Jane, and their dog, Lucky.

MINDWORKS

By Neal Shusterman

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From the incomparable mind of award winner Neal Shusterman, New York Times bestselling author of the Arc of a Scythe series, comes a collection of uncanny and unforgettable short stories.

Compiled for the first time in one epic volume, these stories both classic and brand-new will stretch your imagination from terror to the sublime and back again. Explore a world where bats block out the sun, where soup is a trap for your soul, or where the life-force of a glacier can bring back the dead. Journey to a place where the wind can be captured, time can be crafted into infinite attic space, or a hot tub can house an ancient monster. And revisit the Arc of the Scythe universe for two all-new tales of gleaning.

In this collection, featuring stenciled, sprayed edges, the only thing that is truly certain is that nothing is certain.

ALL BETTER NOW

By Neal Shusterman

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From New York Times bestselling author Neal Shusterman comes a young adult thriller about a world where happiness is contagious but the risks of catching it may be just as dangerous as the cure.

A deadly and unprecedented virus is spreading. But those who survive it experience a long-term effect no one has ever seen before: utter contentment. More and more people begin to revel in the mass unburdening. But not everyone. People in power—who depend on malcontents, and who prey on the insecure to sell their products and convince others they need more, new, faster, better everything—know this new state of being is bad for business. Campaigns start up to convince people that being eternally happy is dangerous. The race to find a vaccine begins. Meanwhile, a growing movement of Recoverees plan ways to spread the virus as fast as they can, in the name of saving the world. Everyone has an agenda and it's nearly impossible to determine the truth—especially for three teens at the center of this power play that could change humanity forever.

The story will continue in All Over Now, the second book in this duology, tentatively scheduled for November 2027.

THE ART OF EXILE

By Andrea Max
Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

Legendborn meets The Da Vinci Code in this captivating contemporary fantasy following a teen who must infiltrate a secret school for the descendants of exiled Renaissance masters to steal their long-lost creations in the arts and sciences.

Ada Castle is a total disappointment, a fact her high-achieving family has made clear by excluding her from their secret ancestral order. But she has finally been given an opportunity to enter the fold, using the one thing that makes her special—a power she’s been told her whole life to suppress.

Sent on a mission to Florence, Ada is recruited and goes undercover as a student at the Genesis Institute, a utopian school for marvelous science and medical development, that is also unjustly hoarding its resources. She is determined to steal technology that will revolutionize the world while also proving herself to her family. But Genesis is the first place to make her feel accepted exactly as she is, and she can’t help but fall for it—and maybe also for her frustratingly off-limits recruiter-turned-mentor. However, when a close friend is kidnapped, Ada is forced to team up with a dangerous (and dangerously hot) classmate to find her. And if she wants to save her friend, she’ll have to choose who to betray: the family she loves or the school that has given her a home.

This is Andrea Max’s debut novel and the first book in a planned trilogy. The second book, tentatively titled The Blood of Muses, is scheduled for Summer 2026.

TILL DEATH

By Kellan McDaniel
Imprint: MTV Books

Two gay men—one a teenager, one an ageless vampire—sink their teeth into reclaiming their lives and identities from those who would silence them in this romantic horror novel from Hugo Award and Nebula Award nominee Kellan McDaniel.

Howard is biding his time until he can finally leave for college, where he has been promised that things get better. The last thing he expected was to meet a beautiful young man who will change everything.

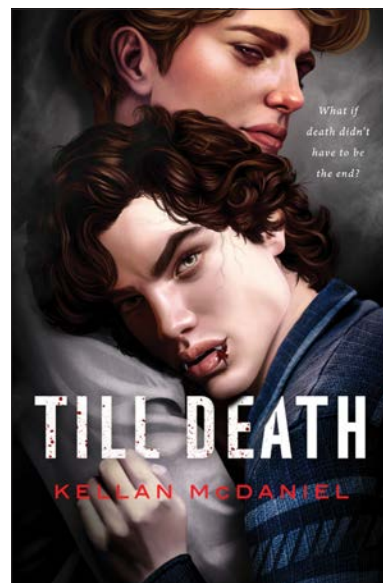

After decades together, George is about to lose his life partner, James. George will live forever, trapped in the body of a nineteen-year-old, but James is dying and going somewhere beyond George’s reach.

After so many years of loving one person, George can see a future with Howard . . . one that doesn’t include death. And for the first time, Howard stops imagining himself always being alone—even if companionship comes at the cost of his mortality.

IF LOOKS COULD KILL

By Julie Berry

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From Printz Honoree and New York Times bestselling author Julie Berry—a nail-bitingly tense and refreshingly funny literary mashup that pits Jack the Ripper against Medusa

True crime meets timeless myth: history's most notorious killer goes head-to-head with mythology's most compelling monster in a gripping, atmospheric thriller. It's autumn 1888, and Jack the Ripper is on the run. As London police close in, he flees England for New York City, seeking new victims. But a primal force of female vengeance has had enough. With serpents for hair and a fearsome gaze, an awakened Medusa is hunting for one thing: Jack.

And other dangers lurk in Manhattan's Bowery. Salvation Army volunteers Tabitha and Pearl discover that a girl they once helped has been forced to work in a local brothel. Tabitha's a city girl with a wry sense of humor and a thirst for adventure while farm girl Pearl takes everything with stone-cold seriousness. Their brittle partnership is tested as they team up with an aspiring girl reporter and a handsome Irish bartender to mount a rescue effort, only to find their fates entwined with Medusa's and Jack's.

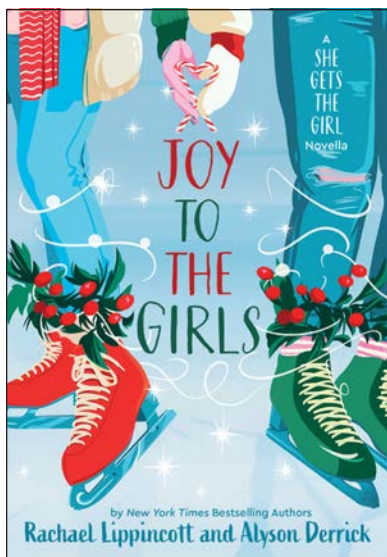

A love song to sisterhood and a survivors' battle cry, If Looks Could Kill is a ferocious, heart-pounding, romantic page-turner.

JULIE BERRY is the New York Times bestselling author of the 2020 NCTE Walden Award and SCBWI Golden Kite Award winner Lovely War, the 2017 Printz Honor and Los Angeles Times Book Prize–shortlisted The Passion of Dolssa, the Carnegie Medal– and Edgar Award–shortlisted All the Truth That's in Me, the Odyssey Honor The Scandalous Sisterhood of Prickwillow Place, and the Wishes and Wellingtons trilogy. JOY TO THE GIRLS

By Rachael Lippincott and Alyson Derrick
Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

Getting the girl was easy, but can they keep each other when they're both keeping secrets? Find out in this cozy holiday novella companion to She Gets the Girl!

For Alex and Molly, the last three years have felt like Christmas every day. So, what better way to celebrate winter break of their senior year than a romantic holiday getaway in a town right out of a Christmas card?

Aside from sampling all the holiday cheer that Barnwich has to offer, Alex and Molly have an important mission this weekend: to help their friend, Cora, get her crush to fall for her. But in between ice-skating, snowball fights, and matchmaking schemes, it becomes obvious that Alex and Molly have another mission this weekend: to not reveal the huge secrets they're each keeping from the other. Secrets about their post-college plans that just might threaten to tear them apart.

Will these two be able to help Cora get the girl and keep theirs—or will this be the last Christmas of Alex and Molly's love story?

LOVE GOES VIRAL

By Camille Stochitch, Alexander Berman, and Estelle Laure
Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

Simultaneously in development for the big screen!

An internet star falls for a small-town boy in this sweeping romance that's Notting Hill for Gen Z—perfect for fans of Lynn Painter!

Love Thompson has it all—fifty million followers, brand deals, PR packages at her Hollywood mansion doorstep—until . . . she doesn't.

After Love takes the blame for her influencer boyfriend's mistake, the fallout goes more viral than the video that skyrocketed her to fame. And even though she's technically innocent, by the next morning she's already lost sponsorships and ten million followers. Love needs to rehab her image. Fast. And that means dating someone a little more homegrown.

Enter Austin Grey. Austin is about as homegrown as it gets, and his only followers are the regulars at his family's struggling diner that he's doing his best to save. But everything changes when he gets a DM from an internet star he never expected to cross paths with again.

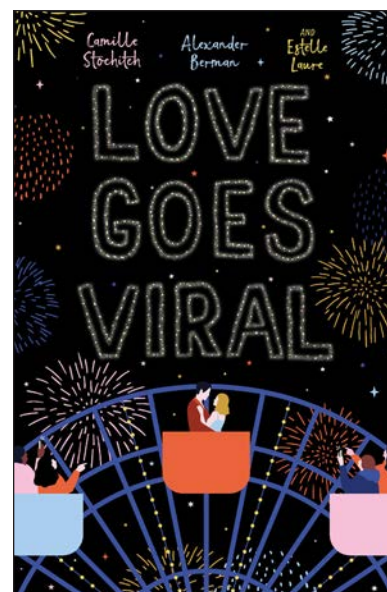

When Love walks back into Austin's life, they both think this is a purely online scheme with an expiration date. But as genuine feelings start to develop that keep them coming back to each other again and again, will either of them be willing to take a chance on something real?

FAKE SKATING

By Lynn Painter

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From the New York Times bestselling author of Better Than the Movies—childhood sweethearts reunite in a hockey-loving town where romance is about to heat up the ice.

Growing up, Dani couldn't help but follow around the adorable son of her mom's best friend. Funny, kind of nerdy, and a little soft, Alec was always down to hang with Dani when they were little. From playdates on the playground to sneaking into movie theaters, Dani and Alec were inseparable. Until Dani moved away.

Flash forward to years later and Dani is back in Minnesota with her mom after her parents' devastating divorce. Dealing with the fallout of her parents' breakup, Dani wouldn't mind a nerd-out with the cozy and comforting Alec (and maybe a chance to confront him on his MIA status all these years). But teenage Alec is nothing like the kid Dani remembers. He is the hockey STAR in a town where hockey players are worshiped as gods. Alec has a line of female fans drooling all over him. And he LOVES it.

But when one thing leads to another and Dani and Alec find themselves thrown together and playing the role of boyfriend and girlfriend, "complicated" becomes an understatement. Their fake relationship will unearth complex family secrets and force the duo to face their true feelings toward each other—along with the real reason why Alec had been pushing Dani away for all these years.

YOU HAD ME AT HELLO WORLD

By Rona Wang

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

Slay meets Silicon Valley in this drama-packed YA about a Chinese American teen who navigates a high-stakes coding competition, sabotage, and cute boys when she's invited to a summer hackathon at MIT.

When sixteen-year-old Charise "Char" Tang is invited to a highly selective hackathon at MIT with other high school students from across the country, it seems like a fluke. As a small-town, low-income student who attends a school that doesn't really offer computer science classes, she knows this is her one chance to prove herself and show that she's got what it takes to code with the best of them.

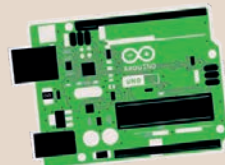

But when she arrives, she unwittingly lands herself in a one-on-one partnership with Khoi Astor, a programming prodigy and creator of the previous year's biggest mobile game app. Together, they create Hello World, an app designed to help new immigrants form connections in America, inspired by their families.

As the competition heats up, so do things between Char and Khoi. But the course of true love and true innovation never did run smooth, and when you're in a room full of ambitious, hungry, MIT hopefuls, sabotage lurks around every corner.

FALLING LIKE LEAVES

By Misty Wilson

Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

Gilmore Girls* meets Jenny Han in this fall-themed YA romance about a girl whose parents' separation causes her to move to quaint Bramble Falls, forcing her to confront the truth of her future while rekindling an old flame.

Ellis has a lot of expectations for her senior year, but moving from Manhattan to Bramble Falls, Connecticut, is not one of them. Yet in the wake of her parents' separation, that's exactly where she and her mother are headed. Bramble Falls might be charming, but it's also full of distractions. Like local barista Cooper Barnett, Ellis's one-time best friend—and first kiss—who has not only majorly glowed up but wants nothing to do with Ellis.

Then there's the Bramble Falls Falling Leaves Festival, a month-long tourist attraction run by Ellis's aunt, celebrating all things autumn. Dragged to each event, Ellis can't stop bumping into Cooper, the one person she'd hoped to avoid.

But the longer she spends in Bramble Falls, the harder it is to pretend she's not falling for this town and the people in it. As her return to Manhattan gets pushed further and further out, Ellis is forced to confront exactly what she wants from her future and what that means for her present. . . .

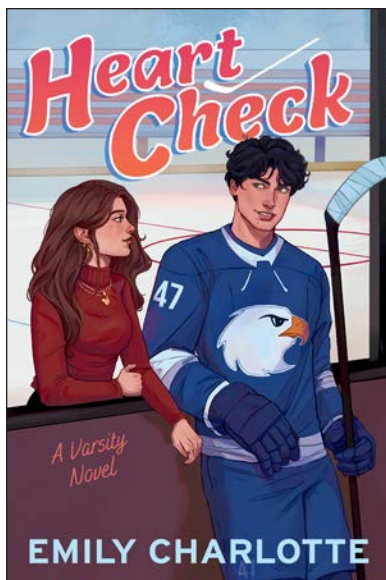

COMING SOON: a Bramble Falls story for every season! We have plans to release three more titles in this series set in winter, spring, and summer through Spring 2028.

VARSITY: HEART CHECK

By Emily Charlotte
Imprint: Margaret K. McElderry Books

Friday Night Lights meets ice hockey in this feel-good YA romance about a star hockey player and his biggest critic who are determined to believe the worst about each other. Can working the same afterschool job break the ice between them?

Luke Dawson and Harper Braedon could have been friends. They trade shifts at the same diner and share classes at school, and their lives are dictated by their greatest passions: hockey for Dawson, and jewelry-making for Harper. But some things aren't meant to be. Harper thinks Dawson is a self-centered jock, a perfect fit for a team that seems to absorb all the budget and attention at their sports-obsessed high school. Dawson thinks Harper is stuck-up, turning her nose up at anything resembling school spirit.

When their beloved hockey coach gets fired for misallocation of funds, Dawson is terrified that all his plans for impressing scouts are about to vanish before his eyes. A rumor goes around that Harper is the one who got him fired, and suddenly she's public enemy number one. But even with their mutual dislike at an all-time high, Harper and Dawson can't escape splitting shifts forever. Can forced proximity help them find some common ground, or will long-held grudges finally succeed in bringing them both down?

While Dawson and Harper's story stands alone, we are developing other stories in the athletics-obsessed world of Hamilton Lakes!

MEET ME ON LOVE STREET

By Farah Heron
Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

From Farah Heron, the critically acclaimed author of adult rom-com Accidentally Engaged, comes an opposites-attract romance between two teens who are trying to save their quickly gentrifying neighborhood.

Seventeen-year-old Sana Merali is a hopeless romantic. But that's inevitable—she literally lives on Love Street, a quiet side street in downtown Toronto filled with mom-and-pop shops. Sana expects that any second now, an epic meet-cute on Love Street will happen for her. But when Sana's idyllic neighborhood is threatened by developers, Sana and her neighbors plan a community festival to make Love Street the Toronto destination it should be. And what better place for her to find love than at a festival for Love Street?

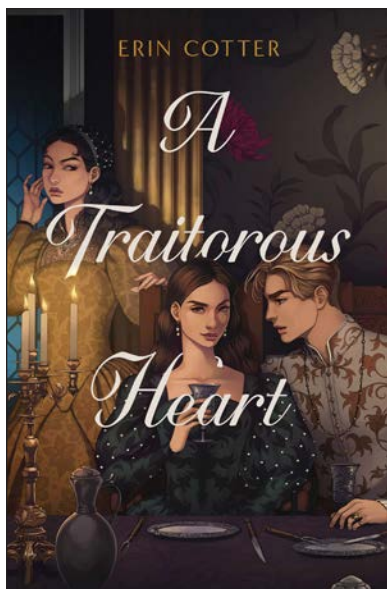

Unfortunately, also on the festival committee is the quick-to-disagree, stick-in-the-mud Miles Desai. Miles is grumpy, cynical, and doesn't believe in love—which sunny Sana simply can't stand. So Sana has a new, additional goal this summer: matchmake Miles and knock the cynicism right out of him. But when her setup for Miles starts to actually work, Sana realizes that she might want Miles to fall for her more than anyone else.

A TRAITOROUS HEART

By Erin Cotter

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

A noblewoman in the scandalous French court of Catherine de' Medici finds herself in danger when she falls in love with the handsome king betrothed to her former lover in this bisexual Three Musketeers by way of Bridgerton and F.T. Lukens.

Paris 1572. Seventeen-year-old Jacqueline "Jac" d'Argenson-Aunis is lady-in-waiting to her best friend and former lover, the French princess Marguerite "Margot" de Valois, but she dreams of more. If Jac plays her cards right, one day she'll become a full member of the Societas Solis, a secret society of spies.

But it's hard to think about her own ambitions while France is on the brink of war, and the only thing that might save the country is an alliance—a marriage between the Catholic princess Margot and Henry, the brazen and arrogant son of the Huguenot queen. Who would be the perfect person to play matchmaker? Jac, of course.

The more time Jac spends in the French Court's clandestine corners, though, the more she starts to wonder if Henry is . . . not as terrible as she once believed. And the Societas Solis may not be what they seem.

Politics. Spies. Chaos in the French court. Perhaps even witchcraft? Everything's more dangerous when love is involved.

SOLVING FOR THE UNKNOWN

By Loan Le

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

In this sweet, heartfelt companion to A Pho Love Story, Việt and Evie juggle family expectations with their desire to forge their own path in between classes and falling in love.

To his friends back home, Việt Hò is calm and collected and a lovable oddball. He's relieved to head off to UC Davis and escape from being in the middle of his bickering immigrant parents. Yet, on campus and with the school year unfolding at an overwhelming pace, Việt struggles to belong and to keep his depression hidden.

Evie Mai is a biology major who has never trod far off the beaten path. She has everything: good grades, a solid group of friends, and a smart, ambitious boyfriend. But their busy schedules, as well as their interests, no longer align.

When a clumsy accident brings Việt and Evie together, they bond over their shared hometown and similar history—and their orbits and friends overlap. The more time they spend together and support each other, mentally and emotionally, the more their relationship deepens, and the more they realize the answers they've been searching for may have been right in front of them all along.

WE WERE NEVER HERE

By Sophia Hannan

Imprint: Simon & Schuster Books for Young Readers

Four teens went into the manor, three came out. Now, two months and a broken friendship later, they're sent back in to retrieve the painting they were meant to steal—a painting that may have killed before.

In July, Georgia Perry and Jules Park—cohosts of a popular YouTube ghost-hunting show, secret girlfriends, and covert art thieves—step into the most haunted house in Michigan to steal a painting. A few short hours later, there's a knife in Jules's chest, and Georgia is waking up in a pool of blood with no memory of how she got there. No one knows what happened, no one can account for the lost time, and only one thing is certain: four teens walked into De Lys Manor, and only three came out alive.

Now it's September, and Georgia feels like she's underwater. She hasn't been to class in weeks, her friendship with the two remaining members of their heist crew is in shambles, and the darkness that's taken over her body since Jules's death is threatening to consume her. So when the crew gets a call from their fixer—the man who paid a hefty sum to keep them out of jail—demanding that they return to finish the job by stealing the painting they'd been sent there to steal, she's less than enthused.

It's not just the fact that her best friend—their tech wiz James—isn't talking to her or that Jules's best friend, Circe—their forger and the girl Georgia's always carried a torch for—is trying too hard to talk. It isn't the fact that Georgia is plagued by the memory of Jules and hounded by the guilt that she was never willing to go public with their relationship. It's not even the endlessly prying eyes of their viewers. It's the painting, The Lady, Drowned, which a once-pragmatic Georgia is now convinced is haunted, which she now thinks killed Jules Park, and which may now be coming after the three who remain.
